State of the Market

- “Rising rates in September contributed to continued rising inventory, falling sales and falling median home price,” said Lisa Hill, Orlando Regional REALTOR® Association President. “Home sales during the fall are typically slower than sales during the spring or summer, and this may be especially prevalent this season with rates reaching their highest level in over 20 years. High interest have been the No. 1 factor affecting buyers this year, and it’s evident this challenge will persist.”
- The median home price for September was recorded at $370,000, down from $375,000 in August. This is the third month in a row that median home price has fallen.
- Overall sales fell 8.4% from August to September. There were 2,558 sales in September, down from 2,792 sales in August. This is the fourth month in a row that home sales have fallen.
- Inventory for September was recorded at 6,758, up 10.5% from August when inventory was recorded at 6,115. This is the sixth month in a row inventory has risen.
- September’s interest rate was recorded at 7.3%, up from 6.6% in August. This is the highest interest rate since March 2002.
- 16 distressed homes (bank-owned properties and short sales) accounted for 0.6% of all home sales in September. That represents a 23.8% decrease from August, when 21 distressed homes sold.
- New listings fell 2.1% from August to September, with 3,545 new homes on the market in September, compared to 3,620 in August.
